NATURALLY

Universal light is the source of life for all beings: each human being, as all living creatures, is literally a convergence of this light in physical form. This light is also the animating force of all living beings: it is what makes the distinction between a creature dead or alive.

Our physical form transforms this universal light into a unique pattern. Just as our bodies are all completely unique, so too are our light patterns different from one person to another. In a certain sense, it could be said that our light pattern is our energetic fingerprint.

This pattern of light, commonly known as the “aura”, paints a remarkably accurate picture of our state of health, our state of mood and even our energy level at any given moment. Due to the fact that light is the fastest phenomena in existence, our aura is the first to reflect any fluctuations in our being. Any existing imbalances show up in our light pattern long before they manifest in physical problems.

Today, it is possible to visualize our light pattern and use it to monitor our health in a pleasant way - not to mention, with one hundred percent precision.

There are some incredible benefits and usages to this tool, among many others:

- The ability to immediately visualize and analyze the complete portrait of a person's health, including systems, functions, organs, tissues, emotions, energetic levels, chakras and more
- Extreme precision and real-time information: keep track of your health with regular visualization
- The ability to assess results of therapies or treatments over time
- The ability to detect and prevent health problems long before they occur in the physical body
- A non-invasive approach to assessing health: no needles or tests necessary

Following testing, it is possible to receive various levels of assessment:

- 1) A complete report of all systems with a list of interrupted functions requiring attention - € 100
- 2) The above, plus a synthesized report of imbalanced meridians for further usage in meridian-based traditional therapies, such as Acupuncture, Shiatsu or Chinese Medicine - € 180
- 3) All of the above, plus a complete report of all systems, meridians and specific problems points (based on normal physiology), as well as explanatory information on the relationship between affected areas and the underlying significance behind detected issues - € 360
- 4) All of the above, plus a consultation with wellness expert for complete assessment and management of health - € 500
- 5) Options 1-3, plus a consultation with wellness expert for complete assessment and management of health (complicated cases) - € 700
